If I am having a buffet dinner how many plates should I order?

To allow for seconds you should generally order 1.1 plates per guest. This may change if you are serving multiple main courses.

If I am using small plates and creating "stations" for my buffet how many plates should I order?

A good guesstimate is approximately 5 plates per person. Other factors to think about that may increase or decrease the number are how many stations are serving at the same time, how long is the event, do guests come and go or will they remain in the same area for the entire event.
